

ROALD DAHL ON FILM

My Dream Factory

by Stevan Adzic of Takovski Ustanak school

At one time, I made things and I took pride in the things I had made. My words are my belts and my engine pedals. I opened her my minds, and together we filled each other's heart with love and imagination. My brain and my feelings became one. I was mighty. And then, one day, the gears of it stop turning. She left me.

Maybe it's a dream, but I am still here and I believe I will rise again. That past is gone, we must build things and emotions, build families and build dreams, it's time to get back. Because, nothing more is important, that side of the world is beautiful.

When you're pursuing a dream, it helps you to make the right dreams come true, that's my dream factory. Dare to dream it!
